

Privacy Act Notice

For site management, information is collected for statistical purposes. The Department of State Web Site uses software programs to create summary statistics for such purposes as assessing what information is of most and least interest or identifying system performance or problem areas. The following is the type of information collected about your visit to the web site: the name of the Internet domain from which you access State Department web sites (for example, "aol.com" if you are connecting from America Online) and the date and time you access our site. If you choose to provide us with personal information in an email message, we use it only to respond to your email.

For site security purposes and to ensure that this service remains available to all users, the State Department uses software programs to monitor network traffic to identify unauthorized attempts to upload or change information or otherwise cause damage. Unauthorized attempts to upload information or change information on this service are strictly prohibited and may be punishable under the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act of 1986. Information also may be used for authorized law enforcement investigations. Except for the above purposes, no other attempts are made to identify individual users or their usage habits.

Computer Fraud and Abuse Act

Unauthorized attempts to upload information and/or change information on these web sites are strictly prohibited and are subject to prosecution under the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act of 1986 and Title 18 U.S.C. Sec.1001 and 1030.

Disclaimers

For site management, see Privacy and Computer Fraud and Abuse Act Notices

The information content and design/organization of the website launched on January 20, 2001 at <http://www.state.gov> (the "current" site) are maintained by the Office of Electronic Information (PA/EI) of the Bureau of Public Affairs. The Department of State website as it existed until January 19, 2001, at <http://www.state.gov> (the "archive" site) is no longer updated, but remains available for archive and research purposes. Please direct technical questions about <http://www.state.gov> to our contact us page.

Some bureaus/offices maintain servers separately from the site maintained by PA/EI. However, PA/EI coordinates release of information on those servers to ensure that it is linked appropriately with the site at <http://www.state.gov>. When available, the contacts for technical support are listed below. For sites not listed, please visit our contact us page; your message will be forwarded to the appropriate office or bureau.
